

Sonia Ng, a university student, makes a heartbreaking accusation against police of sexual abuse and brutality during detention after protests. This represents a breakdown of basic human rights and dignity.

He sacrificed himself by jumping in on a police arrest, so a senior citizen and two younger citizens could run to safety.

The young man was later arrested and beaten severely wounded, while a police officer peppered his open wounds.