Former member of the Chinese Communist Party started National Day protests. He hoped to protest without hurting themselves, holding a business license in Hong Kong. He was arrested. Don't be afraid to speak up.

This couple helped a young woman get up after she fell at a protest. All 3 of them were arrested. They were released on bail a few days later and got married with the blessings of countless Hong Kong citizens.

Medical providers volunteer at the frontline and help those who fear arrest in public hospitals.

Protesters have been tear gassed by police.
